PADEREWSKI DIES IN NEW YORK

FAMOUS PIANIST AND PATRIOT

PADEREWSKI, the Polish patriot and famous pianist, has died in New York in his eighty-first year. For more than half-a-century he had been the most romantic figure among the great piano players in the "celebrity" world, occupying a place without parallel since the times of Rubinstein and Liszt.

Born in Kurylowka, Russian Poland, in 1860, the son of a Polish patriot who had suffered exile in Siberia, Ignace Jan Paderewski showed remarkable pianistic gifts from his earliest years. He was playing at the age of three and his genius quickly ripened under the tuition of Raguski in the Warsaw Conservatory. At sixteen years of age he made a tour of Russia and returned to become professor at Warsaw Conservatory. He resumed his studies at Berlin, and at Vienna under Leschetizky and his wife, Essipof, to whom, as much as to his own perseverence, he owed that dazzling technique which, with his high interpretative qualities, was to bring the world to his feet.

WORLD TOURS

At the age of twenty-six he made a triumphant début in Vienna, and later in Paris, and his career thereafter was an unbroken succession of successes. In America he was particularly successful; he made many tours of the United States during the succeeding years down to 1914. In one tour, in 1891, he gave over a hundred recitals. To mark his appreciation of the support he received in America he endowed, in 1895-96, the Paderewski Fund with 10,000 dollars for the encouragement of musical education in the United States.

He achieved wonderful success in London also. Paderewski, like other brilliant players of his day, won recognition for a number of compositions. His "Minuet in G" was a popular piano piece, but, in addition, he composed two operas, "Manru" and "Sakuntulla," as well as a Piano Concerto.

In these works he showed that he did not wholly depend for his popular success upon his wonderful head of red-gold hair. His handling of the Polish themes, especially in the symphonic form, showed the strength of his musical talent.

PRIME MINISTER OF POLAND

During the Great War of 1914-18 he organised concerts in the United States and elsewhere in aid of its sufferers in Poland. When peace came in 1918 he threw himself with untiring zeal and driving force into the task of reunifying the various political parties in the country. When, in 1919, he saw the re-born Poland emerge, a grateful people proclaimed him first Prime Minister of the Polish Republic. After a time, however, there were differences with Marshal Pilsudski and Paderewski relinquished office, and in 1920 Paderewski returned to his beloved music. For ten years he was estranged from his country's leaders, and, being a poor man, he set about the task of building up a fortune anew. He toured America again in 1923, and was almost as popular as of yore. His work for charitable causes did not cease, and in 1925, in recognition of his efforts for the British Legion, he was created Knight Commander of the Order of the British Empire.

POPULAR IN DUBLIN

Paderewski was heard several times in Dublin, where he was very popular, his last appearance being in the autumn of 1931 at the Theatre Royal.

Paderewski married, first, Antonina Versate, who died in 1881, and his only son died in early manhood. His second wife, the Baroness de Rosen, died in 1934.

While his style of pianoforte technique was something new and his tone at times sounded somewhat forced, Paderewski won his eminence by the gentler qualities of his playing, by his exquisite gradation of tone in the softer parts, by the glittering brilliance of his execution, the originality of his reading of the classics, and by the ardour of his temperament.

POSTHUMOUS HONOUR

General Sikorski announced at a special meeting of the Polish Cabinet in London yesterday that, in agreement with the President, he has made the posthumous award of the highest military distinction of the Polish Republic, Virtuti Militari, to Paderewski.

PADEREWSKI'S HEART

NEW YORK, Monday.

In accordance with an old Polish tradition requiring the separation of a great artist's heart from his body after death, Paderewski's heart will be removed from here and ultimately placed somewhere in Poland other than the place of the body's interment. The eventual disposition of the remains will depend upon a ruling by the Polish Government, but it is suggested by Paderewski's friends here that his heart should be kept in Warsaw Cathedral.—(Reuter.)

TURF DISCUSSION IN THE DAIL TO-DAY

When the Dail meets to-day the discussion of the Trade Union Bill will occupy the attention of the House till 7 o'clock. Mr. Hugo Flinn, in his capacity of Controller of Turf, will then make a statement on the present position concerning the turf supply. This will be followed by a debate, which will probably be continued till the rising of the House at 10.30.

GERMANS CLAIM NEW SUCCESSES

WANTS U.S.A. NAVY TO STRIKE

COL. KNOX ON LOSSES IN ATLANTIC

PRESS ASSOCIATION.
BOSTON, Monday.

"The time to use our Navy to clear the Atlantic of the German menace is at hand—now is the time to strike," declared Colonel Knox, Secretary of the Navy, to the Conference of State Governors here to-night.

Contending that Russia could hold Germany "for vital months in this crucial year," Colonel Knox said: "For the first time since Hitler loosed the dogs of war on the world we are provided with a God-given chance to determine the outcome of this world-wide struggle. Now is the time to put in motion the huge machine we have been building since the war began. We can ensure beyond a shadow of doubt the defeat of that pagan force, and ensure victory for Christian civilisation.

"I would be derelict if I did not add that all of this involves risk and danger. It may involve sacrifice to the extreme. America must wake up not alone to its dangers—and the dangers are real and fearsome—but to the realities of the sacrifice demanded. We must, if need be, match with American tears, American toil, American sweat, American blood, the toil, tears, sweat and blood which Britain has gallantly spent to hold in check the devastating spread of the Nazi power throughout the civilised world.'

He urged the use of the United States Navy to clear the Atlantic for the delivery of war materials to Britain while "Hitler has turned his back upon us."

TWO MILLION TONS LOST IN FIVE MONTHS

The continuance of shipping losses at the present rate must bring victory and world domination to Hitler, Colonel Knox said. There were 2,198,000 tons of shipping sunk in the first five months of the year—an annual rate of loss of 5,275,000 tons—together with essential cargoes of war supplies.

"The actual delivery of our aid is part of our pledge. Now is the time to fulfil that pledge. To show how vital it is that we shall make the Atlantic crossing safe, which we must and can do, let me cite the figures of losses by sinking in the last five months ending 31, 1941:—January, 309,731 tons; February, 339,833 tons; March, 505,750 tons; April, 581,251 tons, and May, 461,328 tons.

"To emphasise what such losses mean let me cite one ship recently sunk which carried 1,000 machine-guns and 1,500,000 rounds of ammunition, and another one within the last few days carrying an equally valuable cargo, which included a huge amount of high explosives. On many ships that had gone down in the North Atlantic were 'planes, tanks and thousands of cases of food. . .

"To live, fight and win Britain needs food, oil, guns and 'planes in ever-increasing quantities. . . She must get all these things from us. She must get them at places where they can be used."

HEAVY RAIDS ON GERMANY

DAYLIGHT AND NIGHT ATTACKS

BRITISH aircraft continues to make night and day attacks on Germany.

Bombers of the Royal Air Force yesterday, for the first time, made two daylight raids, and claim to have lost only one machine. Sunday night's raids on Bremen and Hamburg were followed by an early attack on Bremen, and some time later heavy bombers raided Kiel.

A large force of British fighters in an evening sweep is reported to have shot down six German fighters.

BRITISH REPORTS

The Air Ministry communiqué stated:—

"A heavy attack was made on Hamburg and Bremen by bombers of the Royal Air Force in fine weather on Sunday night.

"Visibility was extremely good, and our crews were able to see the effect of their heavy bombs as they burst on targets in the industrial districts and shipbuilding yards of both cities.

"Very large fires were started, especially at Hamburg.

"Objectives at Bremenerhaven, Emden and the docks at Den Helder were also bombed.

"Eleven of our aircraft are missing from these operations."

Describing yesterday's daylight raid an Air Ministry communiqué stated:

"In daylight early this morning several aircraft of the British Bomber Command bombed the docks at Bremen and the railway yards south of Oldenburg.

"The docks and a wireless station in the Dutch island of Terschelling were also attacked, and to the south-west of the island a patrol ship was bombed and destroyed.

"Other aircraft attacked an escorted convoy off the island of Norderney, and two of the largest vessels in the convoy—one of about 3,000 tons and the other of about 6,000 tons—were set on fire and are believed to have been sunk.

"One enemy fighter was engaged and shot down.

"None of our aircraft is missing."

It is learned in London, says the Press Association, that in a second daylight raid on Germany yesterday heavy bombers of the Royal Air Force attacked the docks at Kiel. One British aircraft is missing.

It is learned in London that British fighters destroyed six German 'planes in the evening sweep over Northern France, says the Press Association. The bombers' objective was a power station near Lens. Bombs were seen to burst in the centre of the target, which was soon enveloped in dense smoke.

One British fighter is missing.

ITALIAN 'PLANES SHOT DOWN

MALTA, Monday.

"During an 'alert' this morning enemy aircraft in the vicinity of Malta were intercepted by our fighters which shot down into the sea two Macchi 200's and damaged a third Macchi, states an official communiqué.

"There were no casualties to our aircraft or personnel," it adds.—(Press Association.)

LWOW AND MINSK CAPTURED

MOSCOW REPORTS THRUSTS HELD UP

A BERLIN military spokesman stated last night that Minsk was now in German hands, says the Associated Press. German troops, he added, were in sight of Smolensk, and a big "sack" was being formed in the Smolensk region.

The German communiqué yesterday announced the capture of Lwow, in Galicia, and said that the ring round two Russian armies at Bialystok was being tightened.

A German radio war commentator added that Minsk was taken by a pincer movement, "thus achieving the first thrust into Soviet territory proper. The German advance, which has now been carried far beyond Minsk, may soon become very unpleasant for the Russians," he said.

German sources claimed that, after the capture of Minsk, German troops had driven half-way along the 450-mile road to Moscow, but admitted that, as there were many Russians behind the armoured spearhead, the area could not be regarded as occupied.

Information reaching Vichy last night, says Associated Press, indicated that the Russians had turned the tables on the Germans, and advanced German motorised elements, which were thought to encircle the Russians, might now themselves be encircled. The action developing in front of Minsk was apparently a gigantic "see-saw," in which some million men were involved. The Russians had apparently been able to perfect tactics which General Weygand tried vainly to apply against the Germans in the battle of France.

The German radio, heard in New York yesterday, claimed the capture of Dvinsk and Jekabpils, in Latvia. Both are south of Riga, the Latvian capital—Dvinsk 100 miles and Jekabpils 80 miles away.

A Soviet communiqué this morning said that fierce Finnish and German attacks had been repulsed, says the Associated Press.

The German commentator earlier claimed another encirclement of Soviet troops in the area between the East Prussian frontier, Dvinsk, Riga and Libau, which the German communiqué said had been captured.

The French Government has broken off diplomatic relations with the U.S.S.R. An official announcement in Vichy yesterday afternoon, announcing this, says the Press Association, gives as the reason the charge that Soviet diplomats were "engaging in action constituting an attempt on public order and the safety of the State."

The French Ambassador in Moscow has been instructed to inform the Soviet Government of the decision.

NAVAL LANDING FOILED

The Press Association, summing up the position from the German and Russian communiqués, says that German forces, attempting a naval landing at Viborg, in the Gulf of Finland, during the night, were repulsed. German panzer divisions, "breaking through" in the Minsk gap, have been cut off from their bases and are in "an exceptionally grave position."

Fighting has broken out along the entire Finnish front from the Sea of Barentz to the Gulf of Finland, but, says Moscow, all German attempts to pierce the fortifications were repelled.

According to Moscow, German forces attempting the Viborg landing were destroyed during disembarkation on the shore.

Viborg was ceded to Russia by Finland, together with the rest of the Karelian Isthmus, by the peace terms of March, 1940

STATE FRONTIER HELD

The Russian communiqué yesterday says:—

During last night our troops continued stubborn fighting in the Murmansk, Dvinsk, Minsk and Lutsk sectors. In other directions and sectors of the front night patrol activities, partial re-grouping of troops and artillery duels took place. The enemy yesterday persistently and repeatedly attempted to cross our State frontier on the Karelian Isthmus, but each time fire and counter-attacks by our troops threw him back to his original position, inflicting heavy losses.

"In the Kexholm sector the enemy, with two infantry battalions, three times attacked positions occupied by our troops, leaving behind 300 dead on the battlefield. The enemy retreated behind the State frontier.

"On the same day, in the Viborg sector, the enemy attempted a naval landing. Decisive operations by our troops destroyed the enemy landing party during its disembarkation on the shore.

"In the course of the fighting yesterday our air force destroyed 53 enemy 'planes and lost 21. In an air engagement in the region of Sebesh our fighter 'planes shot down a JU 52. The enemy 'plane caught fire. Four airmen came down by parachute and were captured."

The Russian communiqué records incidents of individual heroism, and mentions that Russian reconnaissance 'planes discovered a fast-moving German tank unit in the sector of the village of "X." Having received the report, the commander ordered the troops to cut off the tanks. Soviet bomber squadrons flew to meet the Germans, and as the result of the battle, in which Russian aircraft and tanks showed courage and fortitude, the Germans were defeated. Fifteen German tanks were destroyed, it was claimed.

The work of the Russian fighters is excellent, it is added. A formation brought down during one night five German bombers, which tried to get through to an important military objective. Two Junkers 88 were shot down also.

The German communiqué yesterday reported that in the centre of the front "the ring round the hemmed-in Soviet Armies" have been tightened, while on the northern flank German troops "are in pursuit of the enemy."

Bitter fighting about 25 miles north-west of Lwow is reported by the German News Agency.

"German troops advancing in the area of Rawa Ruska broke the stiff resistance of Soviet forces massed for attack," says the Agency. "Several hundred Soviet tanks were destroyed or captured. Forty-two new 21 centimetre Bolshevist mortars fell into the hands of the German troops."

Near the Baltic coast German units advancing northwards in the Lithuania-Latvia area have "completely surrounded a Bolshevist division," according to the German Agency. "The ring round these forces is so close and firm that their annihilation is certain," it asserts.

JEWS SHOT IN RUMANIA

Activity by Soviet parachutists is disclosed in an official communiqué issued from the Rumanian Premier's Office in Bucharest, quoted by the Italian News Agency. It says that "spies and terrorist agents" dropped behind the front in order to establish contact with "Jewish Communists" for the organisation of "acts of aggression." Several "agents" have already been arrested, the communiqué announces, and already 500 "Jewish Communists" have been shot.

In an earlier communiqué (printed in our later editions yesterday) Moscow stated that the repeated attacks of Finnish and German troops on the Finnish front were repulsed with heavy losses. The Germans and Finns left hundreds of dead in a number of sectors. In the Vilna-Dvinsk area mobile units unsuccessfully attacked the flank and rear of Red Army men who were retiring to new positions after the battle on various Lithuanian sectors. Soviet counter-attacks inflicted heavy losses on German material.

Motorised German divisions and infantry are engaged in violent fighting along the line Lida-Bokosysk and their advance is held up by covering Red infantry which carried out the retreat from the State frontier.

GREAT TANK BATTLE

Near Luck, where 4,000 tanks have been engaged in the biggest and grimmest tank battle in military history, "fighting between important masses of mechanised troops is continuing. All German attempts to penetrate in the direction of Novograd-Volynsk and Shepetovka have been defeated, Moscow stated, and Red tanks and aircraft annihilated a great part of the German tank units and motorised troops

German prisoners said, according to Moscow, that a complete German tank division was destroyed in the engagement near Lida.

ON ROAD TO MOSCOW

Claiming yesterday that German troops had driven almost half-way along the 450-mile road to Moscow, capturing the White Russian capital of Minsk, and asserting that the Red Army defences further north were "crumbling so badly that a proper front no longer existed," the Germans, says the Associated Press, admitted, however, that there were many Russians behind the armoured spearhead and that the country through which the Panzer divisions were dashing could not be regarded as occupied. The purpose of the drive, a military spokesman said, was to prevent as effectively as possible the withdrawal of a great portion of the Russian Army into the interior of the country.

A Slovak Army communiqué yesterday claims, according to the German News Agency, that after the capture of numerous fortified positions Slovak units have "broken through the Soviet lines over a wide front and are continuing their advance."

HALT IN DRIVE ON KIEV

A tacit admission that the German drive south-east from Lublin—presumably aimed at Kiev, capital of the Ukraine—has been held up on the Luck area is made in a lengthy statement on the fighting on the eastern front issued by the official German News Agency last night. After referring to "numerous enemy counter-attacks," the statement says: "It seems doubtful whether the Soviet forces will be able much longer to halt the German advance in this sector, although picked Soviet units are being used there."

The German drive on Minsk, according to the Agency, was the result of a "bold pincers movement." "Fast German troops by-passed the armies surrounded in the Bialystok area, advancing via Baranovitch, in the south, and Vilna, in the north," it says. "This thrust is now continuing east of Minsk."

Referring to the German High Command claim of the capture of Libau, the agency statement declares:—"Enemy forces, now hemmed in and broken up in the Vilna-Dvinsk-Riga area, have hardly any possibility of retreat."

Soviet 'plane losses in one week of war are now given as 4,500, of which 227 are stated to have been destroyed or captured by the German land forces. It is also declared that "in the first week the Soviet Navy lost four destroyers, including some of the latest designs."

One of these is stated to have been destroyed by coastal batteries off Constanza, in the Black Sea. This increases the German High Command claim by one.

Soviet Consulates throughout French territory, occupied and unoccupied, have been closed, or are on the point of being closed, and a special train carrying the Soviet diplomats was to leave Vichy last night, said the Press Association.

Soviet diplomatic representatives are still in Berlin, says the German News Agency, but it is expected that they will leave shortly. Negotiations are proceeding in Moscow for an exchange of diplomats accredited to the two countries.

ATTACK ON HANGOE

A Stockholm report yesterday quoted the Helsinki correspondent of Aftonbladet for a report that Finnish troops have begun an attack against Hangoe. The base is about 100 miles west of the Finnish capital. No details are available.

A report to the Swedish Telegraph Agency says that at the Finnish batteries opposite the base the gunfire was continuous, and that frequently cover from aircraft had to be taken. The Russians dropped high explosives and incendiaries, giving the impression that they were seeking systematically to cover a certain area and destroy everything there. Some small forest fires were started. The Finnish batteries were replying the whole time to the Russians.

Soviet warplanes, says the Associated Press, are alleged to have bombed several points in Finland during the week-end. Forest fires were started at Siuntio, Pohja, Pernioe and Tenhola, but were quickly extinguished.

The Finnish radio yesterday reported that a 'plane machine-gunned the Finnish passenger ship, Arcturus, bound for Stockholm from Turqu (Aabo) with 60 passengers. The vessel was not damaged, the announcer said.

Four people were killed and three injured in air raids over Finland yesterday, it is announced in Helsinki, says the Press Association.

LATE NEWS

TANK BATTLES IN PROGRESS

RUSSIAN REPORT ON MINSK

The Red Navy sank two German submarines in the Baltic and one in the Black Sea on June 30, states a Red Army communiqué published this morning.

The Soviet Information Bureau announced:—

"June 30—Our troops drove back the enemy, who yesterday launched an offensive all along the Soviet-Finnish State border. Fierce clashes with the German troops are in progress in the Murmansk direction, where the enemy is suffering considerable losses.

"In the Vilna-Dvinsk direction our forces are waging furious battles against enemy motorised units which are attempting to break through in a north-easterly direction. Our troops are countering the enemy's numerical superiority in this sector with stubbornness and rapidity of manoeuvre. In the direction of Minsk and Baranovitch our forces are waging a tenacious fight with the numerically superior mobile troops of the enemy, checking their advance at intermediate positions.

"Major tank engagements continue in the Rovno district. All the attempts of the enemy to break through to the east have been repulsed with heavy losses to the enemy. Fighting in this direction consisted in fierce tank clashes, as a result of which a considerable number of German tanks was destroyed.

"On the Bessarabian sector of the front the enemy made another attempt to force the River Pruth, but was repulsed, suffering heavy losses, owing to the rapid and decisive action of our troops."

An Associated Press message says that the evacuation of Lwow was acknowledged in the communiqué, which stated that forces in that area withdrew, owing to danger to their rear.

DEFENCE COUNCIL FOR RUSSIA

The Soviet Information Bureau, according to Moscow Radio, announced this morning that "in view of the seriousness of the war situation, the Presidium of the Soviets of the U.S.S.R. has decided to create a Defence Council under the presidency of Comrade Stalin, with Comrade Molotoff as vice-president."—(Press Association.)

DUBLIN'S NEW LORD MAYOR

SIX VOTES TAKEN

AFTER six divisions, Dublin Corporation last night elected Alderman Peadar Doyle, T.D., Lord Mayor for the ensuing twelve months.

Apart from voting for their own candidate—Mr. Martin O'Sullivan, who did not vote—the Labour members did not vote in any of the divisions, except the final division, when they voted against the motion to elect Alderman Doyle. Explaining this subsequently, Mr. O'Sullivan said that their attitude was a protest against the party that had introduced the Trade Union Bill and the Emergency Powers (No. 83) Order.

Alderman Cormac Breathnach, T.D., was the first to be proposed. His proposer was Mr. E. Cooney, and his seconder, Mr. W. J. O'Hara.

To this an amendment was moved by Mr. W. O'Connor, and seconded by Alderman E. Benson, T.D., that Alderman P. S. Doyle, T.D., should be elected. The amendment was passed by 15 votes against 12.

An amendment to elect Mr. Martin O'Sullivan, proposed by Mr. John McCabe, seconded by Mr. James Larkin, was defeated by 23 votes against 6.

Mr. B. Butler then proposed the election of Senator Denis Healy, and Mr. J. Coghlan seconded. This amendment was lost by 17 votes against 11.

The same voting resulted on an amendment of Mr. R. Lynch, seconded by Senator Healy, to elect Mr. Eamon Cooney, T.D.

Mr. W. O'Hara having declined to allow himself to be nominated, Alderman Breathnach proposed, and Mr. M. Stafford seconded, the election of Mr. T. Breslin. This was defeated by 17 votes against 10.

The first amendment to elect Alderman Doyle, T.D., was then put as a substantive resolution and was passed by 18 votes against 15.

FINAL DIVISION

The voting in the final division was as follows:—

For the amendment—Alderman A. Byrne, T.D.; Alderman E. Benson, T.D.; Messrs. M. Byrne, P. J. Cahill, T. Kiernan, Sean Milroy, J. J. Byrne, Mrs. O'Shea-Leamy, Messrs. J. Cahill, W. J. O'Hara, M. Staines, P. J. Medlar, Dr. J. Hannigan, Messrs. W. O'Connor, F. G. Burke, T. Byrne, Mrs. M. Cosgrave and Mr. W. Colman.

Against—Alderman T. Kelly, T.D.; Alderman Breathnach, T.D.; Mrs. T. Clarke, Messrs. R. Lynch, J. McCabe, J. Larkin, M. Stafford, E. Cooney, M. O'Sullivan, T. O'Reilly, Mrs. Nix, Mr. J. Coughlan, Senator Healy, Messrs. T. Breslin and B. Butler.

Expressing his appreciation, Alderman Doyle said that one reason why he was proud of the honour was that as a native of that city he had been put in the highest position within the gift of the citizens, and, no matter what difference of opinion might arise, he always would work with the love of dear old Dublin as his outlook.

Speaking of the happenings at North Strand and Bride street, he said that the City Manager, Mr. P. J. Hernon, and his staff never should be forgotten by the citizens for what they had done to meet the needs of the people in those emergencies.

Alderman Doyle thanked Mrs. Clarke for the way in which she had filled the position of Mayor during her term of office.

ALDERMAN P. S. DOYLE, T.D.

BOMBING OF CHUNGKING

SIR A. BLACKBURN INJURED

ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM.
CHUNGKING, Monday.

Following yesterday's raid on Chungking, in which the British Embassy buildings were wrecked by two direct hits, 54 Japanese 'planes, in two waves, again bombed the city to-day. Many bombs fell in the hills above the residence of the United States Ambassador, Mr Clarence Gauss.

After the bombing of the British Consulate and the United States Embassy on June 15, the British and United States Ambassadors in Tokyo lodged a strong protest. The Japanese stated that the bombing was "an accident."

In yesterday's raid, and again to-day, bombs were dropped on the Yangtse south bank close to foreign property. The official Central Daily News points out that it could not be "an accident" for the British Embassy to be bombed six times, nor yet that its two separate buildings received a direct hit yesterday by two bombs.

An Associated Press message states that in Sunday's raid on Chungking Sir Arthur Blackburn, counsellor at the British Embassy, was struck by flying débris and injured in the jaw. He was taken to hospital.

ENCIRCLEMENT OF PALMYRA

THREAT TO SYRIA'S CHIEF PORT

PRESS ASSOCIATION.
LONDON, Monday.

WHILE Allied forces were completing the encirclement of Palmyra new successes were achieved by British and de Gaullist troops making a two-prong drive on Beirut.

Advancing along the coast, Allied troops have made progress in the teeth of fierce artillery opposition, and forward units have reached within eleven miles of Beirut, Syria's chief port.

Three "extremely violent" air raids on Beirut during Sunday night were reported by the French News Agency to-day, and five more French aircraft have been destroyed and a large number damaged by the Royal Air Force in raids on Palmyra, Aleppo, Quseir and Deir-ez-Zor, states to-day's Royal Air Force Middle East communiqué.

There has been considerable expansion of the British Middle East Air Force, following substantial arrivals of aircraft from Britain and America. There is now a formidable number of American aircraft in use.

To-day's Middle East communiqué from G.H.Q., Cairo, states:—

"Libya.—No change.

"Abyssinia.—Italian forces have evacuated Ghimbi. General Bertello, late commanding troops in British Somaliland, has surrendered.

"Syria.—Our troops have now completed the encirclement of Palmyra. In the Damascus and coastal sectors further advances have been made. In the central sector the situation remains unchanged.

"Cyrenaica.—Raids were made on several objectives during the night of June 28-29. A number of fires were started in the harbour area of Benghazi and on the landing grounds at Gazala. The port of Derna was also bombed. From all the above operations one of our aircraft is missing."

LEAVING ALEXANDRIA

ASSOCIATED PRESS.
ALEXANDRIA, Monday.

Fresh German air raids have led to a new mass exodus of civilians from Alexandria to Cairo and the interior desert towns and villages. Special trains are crowded with evacuees. The Government is providing free transportation for civilians unable to pay the cost themselves, and is encouraging the evacuation of danger zones. In Cairo the Egyptian Premier said that neither Germany nor Italy had replied to any of the three protests the Egyptian Government had made against the raids.

TREATMENT OF TUBERCULOSIS

A NEW NATIONAL ORTHOPÆDIC SCHEME

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

CLAREMORRIS, Monday.

The announcement of the establishment of a national orthopædic scheme, which would greatly increase the facilities available for bone and joint tuberculosis, was made by Mr. P. J. Ruttledge, Minister for Local Government, when he opened the new building at Creagh Sanatorium, Ballinrobe, to-day. He condemned criticism of treatment under the tuberculosis schemes, which he considered unjustified. The progressive development of institutional treatment of all types of tuberculosis on modern lines was proceeding throughout the country, and in a few years it was believed that adequate facilities would be available for all patients from whom it was required. Since 1920 the number of cases treated under he scheme had increased from 16,132 to 18,234. There was a gradual decrease in the death rate from 2.77 per 1,000 in 1904 to 1.52 per 1,000 in 1924, and to 1.17 per 1,000 in 1934. In other countries the death rate from tuberculosis was lower still. It could be confidently claimed that the percentage decline in the death rate in Ireland over this period compared well with the decline in other countries, and he was confident that under existing arrangements the death rate would be further reduced next year.

Referring to the recent hospitalisation scheme in County Mayo, he said that the four new hospitals had cost £200,702, of which £151,794 had been provided from Sweepstake funds.

Dealing with housing in the county, he said that 524 cottages had been erected under the Labourers Act, and 204 of these had been provided by the Board of Health since 1932, and a further scheme of 82 cottages was proposed. Over 3,000 new houses had been erected in the county by private individuals, and over 200 reconstructed with State aid.

The Most Rev. Dr. Walsh, Archbishop of Tuam, blessed the buildings and praised the efforts made by the Minister and Mayo Board of Health to help the sick and afflicted. They had provided a County Hospital, well staffed and furnished with all modern requirements.

The new buildings replace one wing of the sanatorium which was completely destroyed by fire in June, 1939. It was erected at a cost of £14,000, and will accommodate about 40 patients.

DUBLIN COUNTY COUNCIL

The meeting of the Dublin County Council last night to elect a Chairman was adjourned until next Monday as it clashed with the special meeting of the Dublin Corporation for the election of the Lord Mayor.

At the ordinary meeting which followed, Mr. J. T. Ennis presiding, an order from the Department of Local Government consenting to the award of an annual superannuation of £480 to the Council's former secretary, Mr. P. J. Murphy, was read.

It was agreed to begin preparation of plans for unemployment relief to the amount of £330,000.

On the motion of Mr. T. Mullen, T.D., seconded by Mr. P. J. Fogarty, T.D., an order not to make the usual contribution to the Irish Tourist Association was rescinded.

A DISTRICT COURT DECISION

CASE STATED FOR THE SUPREME COURT

The hearing was opened, and adjourned, of a case stated by Circuit Court Judge Davitt, for the opinion of the Supreme Court on the construction of a section of the Public Health (Ireland) Act, 1878. It concerned an appeal by William Field, victualler, Lower George's street, Dun Laoghaire, from a decree of the District Court in favour of Gavin Low, Ltd., Prussia street, Dublin, for £12 10s. 0d., the amount of a cheque drawn by Mr. Field in their favour, payment subsequently being stopped.

From the case stated it appeared that on December 12 last, Mr. Field purchased from Messrs. Gavin Low a cow which had been sent to them for sale. When the cow was slaughtered it was found that she was infected with tuberculosis, and Mr. Field stopped payment of the cheque—the balance of the price of the cow—for which he already had given £4 in cash.

The Circuit Judge found as a fact that the cow was unsound, but that that fact was not known to Messrs. Gavin Low, and could not have been ascertained before slaughter, without a veterinary test by injection, the result of which would not be known for at least 24 hours.

Counsel for Mr. Field had submitted that under the Public Health (Ireland) Act, 1878, as amended by the Act of 1890, it was an offence to sell or expose for sale any animal or carcase intended for food which was found to be so unsound or diseased as to be unfit for such purpose, and that knowledge of the condition of the beast was unnecessary to support a conviction. He submitted that the consideration for the cheque, therefore, was illegal, and that the £12 10s. 0d. was irrecoverable.

The point upon which the Circuit Judge desired the information of the Supreme Court was whether, on the true construction of the Section referred to, as amended, the decree of the District Court should be reversed, and Messrs. Gavin Low's claim dismissed on the ground that the cheque had been given for an illegal consideration.

Mr. Arthur Corbet (instructed by Messrs. W. G. Bradley and Sons) appeared for Messrs. Gavin Low, Ltd.); and Mr. Michael J. Ryan, K.C., and Mr. V. Grogan (instructed by Mr J. Carrol Daly) for Mr. Field.

HOTEL COMPANY TO BE WOUND UP

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE BLACK.)

An order for the compulsory winding-up of the New States Hotel, Ltd., owning the Commodore Hotel, Cobh, was made on the petition of Messrs. Mitchell and Son, Ltd., Wine Merchants, Kildare street, Dublin.

Mr. Vaughan Wilson (instructed by Messrs. Hayes and Son), for the petitioners, stated that the company was indebted to petitioners in a sum of £75 for goods sold.

Mr. Maurice Walker (instructed by Messrs. Barry C. Galvin and Son), who appeared for Mr. Vincent Crowley, the Receiver for Debenture holders, stated that the Receiver was in possession, and was attempting to realise the assets of the company. It was unlikely that there would be any funds available for the payment of ordinary creditors.

DUBLIN DISTRICT COURT

WORTHLESS CHEQUES CHARGE

(BEFORE MR. H. A. McCARTHY.)

Grant Ross-Bain (23), 19 Blessington street, Dublin, a native of Kensington, London, pleaded guilty to obtaining £11 by means of worthless cheques from post offices in the city; obtaining an overcoat value £3 10/- from Messrs. Dunne, O'Connell street, by presenting a worthless cheque, and obtaining 10/- from a taxi driver, E. Cooke, by giving him as security a worthless cheque for £1. The defendant asked that the Justice should also take into account the larceny of a gold chain, medal and cross.

On the application of Detective Sergeant Deering, Ross-Bain was remanded.

Mr D. O Donnchadha (the Chief State Solicitor's office) prosecuted, and Brian MacFhionnlaoich, solicitor, appeared for the Department of Posts and Telegraphs.

OPPOSITION TO WILLS WITHDRAWN

The will of Owen Breen, farmer, late of Colga, Edmonstown, was admitted to Probate in solemn form.

A suit was brought by James Faul, auctioneer, Park street, Dundalk, executor, to establish the will, which had been opposed on the three usual grounds by Patrick Breen, farmer, Rathgeenan, Ardee, brother of Owen, but opposition had been withdrawn.

Mr. J. M. Fitzgerald, K.C., and Mr. Art O'Connor (instructed by Mr. Desmond O'Hagan) appeared for Mr. Faul; and Mr. P. J. Roe, K.C., and Mr. Thomas Teevan (instructed by Mr. John Kieran) appeared for Mr. Breen.

Opposition to the will of Mrs. Catherine Woods, late of Windsor Bar, Dublin street, Dundalk, having been withdrawn by Mrs. Annie McNally, Bridge street, Dundalk, her daughter, the will was admitted to Probate in solemn form.

Mr. Lavery, K.C.; Mr. Roe, K.C.; and Mr. Teevan (instructed by Mr. J. B. Hamill), appeared for the executors, Patrick Lennon, The Crescent, Dundalk, and Miss Kathleen Lennon, Dublin street, Dundalk; and Mr. Art O'Connor (instructed by Messrs. MacMahon, Russell, and Co.) for Mrs. McNally.

Opposition having been withdrawn to the will of Miss Anne, otherwise Nano, Bowen, late of Killany, Kinsale, the will was admitted to Probate in solemn form. It was stated that the assets amounted to £7,162 odd.

Mr. M. Binchy, K.C.; Mr. J. A. McCarthy, K.C.; and Mr. M. O'Driscoll (instructed by Mr. P. J. O'Driscoll) appeared for the executor, Patrick O'Donoghue; and Messrs. J. C. and A. Blake, solicitors, appeared for Vincent Patrick Bowen and Anna Bowen, Ballyorban House, Monkstown, County Cork, next-of-kin, who had opposed the bill.

JURY UPHOLDS BRAY WOMAN'S WILL

(BEFORE THE PRESIDENT OF THE HIGH COURT AND A JURY.)

The jury found in favour of the will of May 17, 1940, and codicil of August 9, 1940, of Mrs. Margaret M. Lacy, late of Minonia, Florence road, Bray, who died on October 28 last, leaving assets valued at £1,800.

The action to establish the will and codicil brought by Michael McMahon, Ardcairn, Wicklow, executor, had been opposed by John Joseph O'Toole, Seville place, North Strand, Dublin, a nephew.

The President decreed probate of the will and codicil in solemn form, and directed that Mr. O'Toole should pay the costs.

Mr. Nolan Whelan, K.C., and Mr. Sean MacBride (instructed by Mr. Joseph Tyrrell) appeared for Mr. McMahon; and Mr. Kenneth Deale (instructed by Messrs. Jordan and Co.) for Mr. O'Toole.

SETTLEMENT IN DIVORCE SUIT

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE MARTIN MAGUIRE.)

A settlement was announced, on terms which were not stated, of a petition brought by Mrs. Teresa Walshe, whose address was given in it as Ennistymon, Co. Clare, for a divorce from her husband, David Walshe, Munster and Leinster Bank House, Killenaule, Co. Tipperary, bank manager, on the grounds of alleged cruelty, which was denied.

Mr. Justice Martin Maguire said that he was glad to see that the differences between the parties had been settled.

Mr. J. M. FitzGerald, K.C., and Mr. Liston (instructed by Mr. D. G. O'Donovan) appeared for Mrs. Walshe; and Mr. C. Lavery, K.C., and Mr. T. Doyle (instructed by Mr. J. J. O'Meara) appeared for Mr. Walshe.

"IS U.S. AT WAR?"

SENATOR'S QUESTION

ASSOCIATED PRESS.

WASHINGTON, Monday.

A resolution was offered in the U.S. Senate to-day suggesting that a Naval Committee should investigate whether the United States Navy had "begun shooting" in carrying out its patrol activities.

The resolution was submitted by Senator Wheeler, who complained that Colonel Knox, Navy Secretary, had declined to affirm or deny rumours that an American warship sank a U-boat. "If we have begun shooting, if we are in an undeclared war, the Constitution of the United States, which provides only that Congress can declare war, has been violated. . . . It is the duty of Congress to determine the facts."

TRANSHIPMENT CONTROL

Control by licence will be applied as from July 15 to all goods imported into the United Kingdom for transhipment, announced the British Board of Trade last night. This does not apply to goods despatched before that date—to goods remaining on board for onward carriage in the same ship—or to surplus stores transferred to other ships as stores.

The new regulations will not be enforced at present in respect of goods passing through Northern Ireland between points in Eire.

RATEPAYERS ASK FOR SWORN INQUIRY

A sworn inquiry into the administration of the poor relief in the Rathdown area, Co. Dublin, was called for in a resolution passed at a meeting of the Dun Laoghaire Ratepayers' Protection and Improvements' Association.

It was stated that an increase of almost 100 per cent. was shown in the amount involved, in comparison with that of ten years ago, and the opinion was expressed that if the Dun Laoghaire Borough had the control of the levying of the money considerable economies could be effected.

Cricket

Trinity's Strong Position Against Queen's

Dublin University gave themselves a chance of forcing a victory over Queen's University in the two days' match which commenced in College Park yesterday. They dismissed the Ulstermen for 176 runs, and at the close were twelve runs in front, with six wickets in hand. If they force the pace this morning they will give Queen's a difficult task to save the game.

The Queen's total was a two-man affair, R. G. Craig and W. C. Wylie scoring all but 54 of the runs. Without their leading bowler, S. Barnes, and employing only their change bowlers, the Trinity attack was not particularly formidable. Craig and Wylie were given a rather large proportion of loose balls, which they punished severely. Wylie, a left-hander, was the more enterprising of the two, and missed few opportunities on the leg side, while Craig batted very soundly and correctly. The rest of the Queen's batting was moderate, but Trinity were rather fortunate in running out Patton, who seemed likely to settle down, when Craig called him for an impossible single.

Once again the consistent E. A. Carry laid the foundation of a good Trinity score by an excellent innings of 58, and he and Jacobson got well on top of the bowling. Luce and Hobson were making runs quickly at the close. Score:—

LEINSTER SCHOOL'S WIN

The annual match between Leinster and Ulster Schools, played at Rathmines yesterday, resulted in a win for Leinster by six wickets. Ulster, batting first, were dismissed for 73, Regan, the Masonic School boy, taking six wickets for 30 runs. Leinster started badly by losing T. Burke for 3 runs, but W. Fanagan and P. Seale brought the score to 46 for four wickets by lunch time. The Ulster total was passed with only six wickets down, and the side were all out for 112.

It had been decided to continue play to 6 o'clock, and Ulster, going in again, made a far better showing. A partnership between F. H. Mann and T. Baillie realised 36 for the sixth wicket, and D. McLeay and Baillie were together at the drawing of stumps. K. Quinn, who bowled throughout the innings took four wickets for 32 runs. Score:—

Irish Turf Winners

THE principal winners on the Irish Turf from the Leopardstown and Limerick meetings in December to the final day of the Curragh last week appear below. The leading owner is Mr. J. Dillon, who owes his place to the victory of Sol Oriens in the Irish Derby, and that horse's triumph also has placed his trainer, Colonel A. J. Blake, and his sire, Hyperion, at the head of their respective lists. Second among the owners is Mr. Joe McGrath, whose chief winner was the two-year-old Windsor Slipper, while Mr. F. S. Myerscough has been placed third mainly by the success of Milady Rose in the Irish 1,000 Guineas. Miss Paget has won more races and owned more winning horses than any other patron of the sport. Colonel Blake is challenged very strongly for leading place among the trainers by Mr. R. More O'Ferrall, whose best winners were Khosro and Dunseverick, and Mr. M. C. Collins, chiefly by the aid of Mr. Joe McGrath's two-year-olds, is close on their heels. Mr. C. A. Rogers's twelve winning horses include animals that have scored under both rules, the chief contributors to his total being the 'chasers, Sir Sen and General Chiang. E. M. Quirke is the leading jockey, closely followed by M. Wing and J. Brogan.

Training Gossip

The Best of the Season's Two-year-olds

By Our Curragh Correspondent.

EVEN though the going may continue on the hard side for some little time yet, that is no reason for any great alarm in regard to immediate meetings. As a matter of fact, trainers have so far surmounted their difficulties in a noteworthy fashion, as was indicated by the fact that they were able to turn out so many runners for the Irish Derby meeting in racing-fit condition.

Shin-soreness was not a too general complaint and the number of defaulters from the declaration lists was comparatively small, taking every circumstance into account.

First House, a recent winner, has been purchased by Mr. B. Kerr, but will remain in P. J. Beary's stable. An addition to this establishment at headquarters is the two-year-old filly, Coup de Maitre, who has shown up in promising style in each of her races. The Mountjoy Lodge trainer also informs me that Meadow Fescue and the two-year-old by Rentermark—Chloris join the team this week.

An Oaks Candidate

Uvira's running in the King's Plate last week justifies all the encomiums lavished on the Osborne Lodge filly for some time, and not much of the prophetic gift is needed to indicate her as more than a reasonably backable proposition for the Irish Oaks at the near-end of the month.

Nor will she, in the opinion of the majority of good judges, need more than the minimum of work, so that her trainer need not be seriously incommoded by underfoot conditions, which, at any rate, are sure to change very soon.

The two-year-olds have acquitted themselves well, and I expect that Mr. McGrath's Windsor Slipper will be voted the champion from this til the close of the season. Indeed, I doubt if we shall really find a better.

Coming Events

Bellewstown will, as usual, be a sporting function and entirely enjoyable. We shall have some runners who may be worth following, and R. Fetherstonhaugh's charge, Roundsman, which was beaten for speed from the final fence home at Naas by Durbar, may make amend by winning the Duleek Plate on the opening afternoon. The King's Plate, which is invariably a tremendous attraction on the second day, will take some winning. I imagine that Philippian will prove the chief danger to Antrim.

The principal objective will be, of course, the Baldoyle meeting on Saturday with a varied and delightful programme. St. Marnock did not run his race out at the Curragh in the manner that some of us expected, and he may be more at home in the Marino Hurdle.

Denturius proved himself "a horse and a half" at the Curragh meeting, and even with a 7lb. penalty the Portmarnock Plate does not, on that form, seem to be above his power. Prada is an alternative choice.

Bel et Bon in the valuable Metropolitan Steeplechase will carry his top weight in style. Acceptors for the Heath Plate include Rounders and Raffin, and the selected will be difficult to beat. Mr. E. M. Parkinson's Smack possesses a sound chance in the Coolock Plate, and the course should suit Four Flusher in the Killester Plate.

Dodo Sandills Runs Well

A fast break from the trap and the retaining of the inside position throughout saw Dodo Sandills come in first in the Qualifying Stake for the Hugh McAlinden Memorial Cup at Shelbourne Park last night. Young Shell pressed him for most of the journey, but could never quite catch up, and the winner increased his lead in the straight. There was a grand finish in the first hurdle. Moneyhore and White Wyandotte came over the last jump together, and Moneyhore was adjudged the winner by a very short head.

In the second hurdle Main Captain was just coming through to the lead by making up a lot of ground over the third jump, when he was bumped right out of it, Young Godiva going on to score comfortably. Results:—

Societies' Cup Won by the Odd Match

On the Foxrock course last evening the Army were unable to concede the strokes to Department of Posts and Telegraphs in the final for the Societies' Cup and lost by the odd match.

At one stage on the second nine it seemed likely that Posts and Telegraphs would win all three. In the first two they were dormy three, and in the other one up with two to play, but Lieutenant Anderson and Rory Saunders fought back to the 20th, and Captain Crowley and Captain Walters won on the home green from J. G. Barnewell and G. O'Leary.

The Army should have won the top match at the tie hole. They had won the 16th with a 4 from J. S. Scott and J. S. Butler, and the 17th with a 3 and out of bounds at the home hole, Scott and Butler were never within sight of even a half. Scott's pitch to the 19th was rather timid, but Anderson's was also short, while Saunders's putt was too strong. It was a half in five, and, with a stroke at the 20th, Post and Telegraphs won the hole and the cup, the issue depending on the result of the match.

Posts and Telegraphs, 2; The Army, 1—J. S. Scott (7) and J. S. Butler (9) beat Lieutenant C. E. Anderson (4) and R. M. Saunders (5) at 20th; D. P. Kelleher (10) and M. J. Carr beat Commandant D. V. Horgan (3) and Captain T. L. Kennelly (12), 3 and 2; J. G. Barnewell (6) and G. O'Leary (14) lost to Captain T. J. Crowley (7) and Captain R. Walters (8), 1 up.

DUBLIN

MORE INTEREST IN MARKETS

There was a good improvement in trading on the Dublin Stock Exchange yesterday, and markets presented a more active appearance. Most interest was centred round British Securities. Local issues continued rather quiet, and the trend was easier in places.

Home Funds enjoyed support, and the Second National Loan, 4½ per cent. Land Bonds, and 4 per cent. Land Bonds all moved in favour of holders.

Dublin Transport Ordinary eased to 13/6, but Alliance Gas Ordinary held 17/6. In Draperies, Pim Bros. Debenture relapsed sharply to 50, Independent Pref. lost 1/- at 29/-; but Pye (Ireland) Ordinary recovered to 4/-, and Irish Sugar Pref. rose to 26/6.

Textiles were irregular, and Tobaccos were almost unaltered.

LONDON

STOCKS RISE TO NEW HIGH RECORDS

The week-end war news did nothing to stem the rising trend of the London Stock Markets, and when business was resumed yesterday, Gilt-edged securities marked another general improvement under the influence of increasing talk of a new Government financial operation on even better terms.

The buying lifted several issues to new high records for some years past, and current prices stand out in remarkable contrast to those ruling a year ago. Old Consols changed hands up to 81¼, Old War Loan advanced to 104¾, and Local Loans went to 94.

Another feature of particular interest was continued strength in Japanese Bonds, due to speculative demand following the recent statement of Viscount Kano that the correct prices should be between 90 and 100 on the latest political news. Quotations yesterday rose by anything up to 2½, and the 6 p.c. of 1924 showed up especially well around 36.

British Rails again moved in line with Gilts, yield consideration bringing in support in anticipation of the half-yearly dividend announcements. Both the junior and prior charge issues were favoured, and among the former, Great Western Ord. and L.M.S. Ord. were prominent at 37 and 13⅝ respectively. Other good spots were L.M.S. 1923 Pref. and L.N.E. 4 p.c. First Pref., which both advanced to the common level of 42.

There was no pronounced activity in Industrials, but the market showed a number of prominent features, "Emmies," for instance, moving up sharply to 11s. 7½d. in response to buying on dividend prospects.

Mines were quieter than of late, with Kaffirs, quoted ex the June dividends. The non-producers held up well.

Oil shares went through the day without showing much change.

WOOL

BRADFORD. — Spinners and manufacturers are still waiting for information about their ration for home civilian trade for next rationing period, which commences to-day. Although there are many provisional inquiries with a view to new business being placed, actual orders are held up until notification of the ration has been received. Production well maintained on export account.

COMPANY MEETING.

CABLE AND WIRELESS (HOLDING)

LORD PENDER ON GROUPS INVESTMENTS

The 12th annual general meeting of Cable and Wireless (Holding), Limited, was held yesterday in London, the Right Hon. Lord Pender (the Governor) presiding.

The following is an extract from the Governor's statement circulated with the report and accounts:—

The report and accounts deal fully with the financial position of the holding company, and there is, I feel, very little that I can add as useful comment or explanation regarding the year under review, except to remark generally upon certain matters concerning the investments of the group.

You will recall that last year I referred to the powers conferred on the British Treasury to requisition certain American and other securities, and I foreshadowed that further lists of such requisitioned securities would appear from time to time, and that these transactions would naturally have an effect on the investment income of the companies in our group.

In the year under review four such lists were issued, while since the end of 1940 a further two lists have appeared. This requisitioning of comparatvely high yielding holdings at a time when suitable stocks affording a moderate return have been in increasingly short supply has presented investors, and particularly institutional investors, with a difficult problem as regards re-investment.

The necessity to support the war effort to the greatest extent possible, on terms which quite rightly demand the acceptance of a very small return, is another factor involved in this problem.

INVESTMENT VALUES

As regards the investments as a whole, the past year has witnessed some recovery in prices generally. The market for high-class fixed interest bearing stocks has continued strong, the rise in British Government Securities being outstanding.

On the whole, the experience of the holder of the leading Ordinary shares has not been so satisfactory, as increased income tax, a 100 p.c. E.P.T., and limitation of supplies for civilian consumption have all tended to increase the hazards for equity holdings, and to remove any prospect of recovery in the near future. I must point out that at the present time we have no knowledge how the E.P.T. will affect your company.

The reserve fund investments having a book value of £13,725,845 were valued at the 31st December last at £11,150,093, thus showing a depreciation of £2,575,752, or 19 per cent. as against 17 per cent. at the end of the previous year. The income from investments received in 1940 amounted to £540,234, which compares with £547,572 in the previous year.

In view of the nature of the duties upon which this great group of companies is engaged, the stockholders will appreciate that, in the existing circumstances, it is not possible for me, as was customary in normal times, to dwell in detail upon its worldwide activities, but I would like to add a word in recognition of the admirable work on the part of the staffs concerned. Apart from the difficulties and strain endured by all under present conditions, they carry on cheerfully and resolutely even at times in the face of personal danger. Whatever the conditions and wherever they are their work goes on.

The report was unanimously adopted.

STRAIGHT FROM THE HORSE'S MOUTH

"Oh, who will o'er the Downs with me?
Oh, who will with me ride?"

"The groom, Sir."

"The question, Hawkins, was purely rhetorical. Use your imagination, man. Suppose that this thoroughbred portion of electrical horseflesh should take the bit between his teeth and volt?"

"I'm afraid I don't follow you, Sir."

"I thought you looked a trifle baffled. You're wondering why I'm feeling so remarkably spry this morning. Why I appear in rude and vulgar health."

"Oh no, Sir."

"And the question springs unbidden to your lips, 'Where, oh where, is the hangover hallowed by tradition?'"

"Not in the least, Sir."

"Just to satisfy your morbid curiosity, Hawkins, let me tell you that last night I stuck to gin and Rose's Lime Juice."

"Of course, Sir. Rose's. How foolish of me."

"And now, Hawkins, you might give this beast a rub down while I make for my tub. And see there's a whacking big breakfast — something like those hunt breakfasts you see on calendars."

PETROL RATIONING.

It is announced that the allowance of Petrol to be issued during the month of July will be on the same basis as for the month of June.

All motor vehicle owners are reminded that the usual petrol ration card must be completed when the Road Tax is being paid. The cards are obtainable at any Money Order Post Office.

Motor vehicle owners who have not yet paid Road Tax for July, and especially private car owners who are taking advantage of the concession now granted for the monthly taxation of private motor cars, will appreciate that some little time will elapse before their petrol rationing cards are received in the Department, and that consequently they cannot receive their petrol licences by the beginning of July. Every effort will be made to expedite the issue of such licences, and it is specially requested that correspondence with the Department on the subject should be avoided.

MINISTERIAL ADVICE

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Speaking at Waterford on Friday last, Mr. Sean Lemass said: "The public must be concerned to protect itself by withdrawing custom from traders who overcharge them, or refraining from purchasing when prices rise unduly, and also by giving the fullest particulars of overcharges to Prices Inspectors, evidence sufficient to sustain a prosecution in the courts."

As the great Castlereagh was accustomed to remark at the Congress of Vienna, "D'jer ever hear such nonsense in your life!"

I suppose, however, the Minister for Supplies cannot be expected to know that at present it is not a question of withdrawing custom from traders who displease one, but of trying to keep in their good graces so as to obtain an irregular supply of essential domestic commodities.

Furthermore, as traders are refusing to accept new customers for tea, what happens about one's tea registration card, as one moves from shop to shop on the Minister's suggested mission as Prices Controller Without Portfolio?—Yours, etc.,

ELIZABETH MILNE.

The Russian Mystery

The mystery of the Russo-German war not only has not been elucidated by the latest reports from Berlin and Moscow; it actually has become more difficult to understand. German and Russian bulletins continue to contradict each other not only in detail, but in essence, and the world is being left to draw its own conclusions from inadequate data. The most recent development in the political situation is interesting. Yesterday it was announced that the French Government had decided to break off diplomatic relations with the Russians, on the ground that Soviet diplomatists have been engaging in action "constituting an attempt on public order and the safety of the State." This decision was conveyed to the Russian Ambassador in Vichy by Admiral Darlan; and the Russian diplomatists are preparing to leave French soil. What, precisely, they have been doing in France to justify this drastic step by Marshal Pétain's Government has not been stated. For the last twenty years Soviet representatives, not only in France, but all over the world, have been engaged in certain propagandist activities. Diplomatists of all nationalities have been guilty of similar activities; otherwise they would not be fit to hold their jobs. The fact that the French Government has decided at this stage to take action against the Russians is sure to be interpreted in the United States and elsewhere as a proof of Vichy's subservience to Berlin, particularly since, right up to the time of the Munich crisis of 1938, when the Soviets were snubbed by Messrs. Chamberlain and Daladier, one of the main planks of France's foreign policy was the Franco-Soviet pact, fathered by that exceedingly astute politician, Monsieur Pierre Laval. Now Germany has launched an attack on Russia, and France has severed her diplomatic relations with the Soviets. Whether or not this move will have any international repercussions remains to be seen; but it is manifest that France, who already has broken off diplomatic relations with Great Britain, is becoming more and more isolated from her former friends and allies. In her present circumstances, nobody can blame France for any political action that she may take. Her leaders must think primarily of their own people, of the millions of French prisoners who remain in German hands, and of the possibility that, at any moment, the whole metropolitan territory of France may be occupied. Vichy's diplomatic breach with Moscow seems to be merely a logical development of Admiral Darlan's policy of the maximum amount of "collaboration" with the Germans, consistent with the maintenance of an independent French State. Nobody outside France can have any idea of the appalling difficulties which confront those men who have been called in her hour of bitter defeat and humiliation to save what can be saved from the wreck of the French Republic. Nothing could be easier than to accuse those men of pusillanimity, even of cowardice; nothing could be harder than to undertake the task with which they were faced without warning just twelve months ago.

In the meantime, Europe is waiting anxiously for authoritative news from the vast Russian front. There can be no doubt at all that Herr Hitler is trying to gain a speedy and final decision against the Soviets, in order, inter alia, that he may be able before the beginning of the winter either to induce Great Britain to agree to a negotiated peace—on Germany's terms—or to launch an offensive against her, free from all preoccupations in the East. The campaign against Russia has been in progress for more than a week. Twenty-five years ago that would have meant nothing. Offensives in the last war were measured in terms of months; but the innovation of the Blitzkrieg has brought about a complete change in military time-tables, and up to the present the Germans have been reckoning their advances in days. Herr Hitler's first comprehensive bulletin, issued on Sunday, made important claims, which are stigmatised by the Russians as "boastful lies and manifest humbug." The Moscow authorities, who seem to have waited to see what the Germans would say, declare that Herr Hitler's great offensive has failed in its main objectives. According to them, the Germans had massed one hundred and seventy divisions on the Russian front. This vast army was not engaged during the early stages by Soviet regulars, with the result that Bialystok, Grodno, Brest-Litowsk, Kaunas, and Vilna fell into German hands. The Russian report gives—as it assuredly is intended to give—the impression that the real fighting has not begun yet; and it asserts that the German thrust, to the south-east of Lublin, towards Kiev and the Ukraine, has been held up in the neighbourhood of Luck. In this area, we are informed, no fewer than four thousand tanks are engaged. What, if any, reliance can be placed on the Soviet communiqués we do not know; but, to some extent, they are borne out by the German reports, which speak of the "stiff resistance of Soviet forces, massed for attack," and of "numerous enemy counter-attacks." The Germans also announce that "it seems doubtful whether the Soviet forces will be able much longer to halt the German advance in this sector, although picked Soviet troops are being used there." In the North the Germans claim to have surrounded large bodies of Russian troops, whose surrender, or annihilation, can be only a matter of days. The Russians, on the other hand, assert that German Panzerdivisionen, which have broken through the Minsk gap, have been cut off, and are "in an exceptionally grave position." In the South the position is equally obscure. The Rumanians declare that Russian "spies and terrorist agents" have been dropped by parachute behind the Rumanian lines in order to establish contact with "Jewish Communists for the organisation of acts of aggression" against the Rumanian State. Apparently as a counter-measure, the Rumanian Government has put five hundred Jewish Communists to death. Only one fact seems to emerge from this welter of contradictory claims. The war in Russia is continuing, and may continue for a long time. Hitherto, the Germans' Blitz methods have not achieved any really spectacular results; but it is far too soon yet to venture upon any forecast of the outcome.

Paderewski

Ignaz Jan Paderewski has died in the United States of America at the age of 80 years. The world will remember him as a great pianist and composer. By his own people in Europe and America he will be remembered chiefly as a great Polish patriot. Fifty odd years ago Paderewski swept into fame as a musician who brought to the piano a brilliant and thoughtful and, at times, original conception of the pieces that he played. He scored notable triumphs in Vienna, in London, and in the United States; and when he first retired from the public platform, in 1900, his reputation was firmly established and its future assured. On a number of occasions he had expressed by word and action his intense pride in being Polish and his ambition to see his country free from foreign rule; but, had it not been for the opportunity presented by the Great War of 1914-1918, he might have passed into history solely as a musician. Already he had proclaimed to the Poles in America that "the vision of a strong and independent Poland always has been the lodestar of my life"; and he had been one of those who resented most bitterly the attempts from 1905 onward to exterminate the Polish element in part of his country. His presentation to Cracow of a memorial on the 500th anniversary of Grünwald's victory over the Teutonic knights probably was an outcome of that indignation. In 1915 he became closely associated with the committee of assistance for victims of the war in Poland, which had been formed in Switzerland. His great practical work for that committee was the giving of concerts, by which enormous sums of money were raised, for four years in America. He helped to recruit the Polish army which trained in Canada in the closing stages of the war, and when peace came he crossed to Warsaw, to become Prime Minister and Minister for Foreign Affairs in the new Polish Government. Patriotism abroad, however, as many Irishmen have discovered, is a very different thing from patriotism at home. Patriots abroad seem to have everything in common; patriots at home have tantalising questions of ways and means, and even ends, to drive them into rival camps. So Paderewski found it to be in Poland. He resigned from the Government because he found it impossible to make national unity a reality, though he continued to represent his country at the Conference of Ambassadors and the League of Nations till, in 1921, he abandoned politics and retired to his estate in California. Subsequently he returned to the concert platform, but until the present war started he took little further part in Polish politics at home or abroad. When he left his country the differences between himself and Marshal Pilsudski had reached a serious breach. Happily the two greatest Polish patriots of the century had made some sort of reconciliation before death took the Marshal. It is impossible to consider Paderewski's record as a statesman apart from the history of Poland from 1919 up to 1939. The re-created State was faced with enormous difficulties, and the victory against the Bolsheviks in the Battle of the Vistula solved only one of them. Its land, labour, economic and religious problems make those which faced the Irish Free State in its early years seem insignificant in comparison. From a personal point of view Paderewski may have done right to "wash his hands" of them, but his independence of existing political groups might have made him a strong force in trying to find solutions for his country's ills. On the other hand, his fervent and unselfish patriotism may not in itself have qualified him for the tasks of statesmanship. Nothing within his power, however, could have saved his country from the plight in which she finds herself to-day. The old man's last thoughts of his beloved Poland cannot have stirred within him any strong desire for longer life.

Rationed Clothes

The recent rationing of clothes in Great Britain has made the people of that country a great deal more "clothes-conscious" than they used to be. People who never used to think about clothes now are carefully working out how best to utilise their coupons, while men who normally never would buy a new suit until the old one had become too shabby to wear any longer, are planning their sartorial shopping visits carefully beforehand. As a result of recent legislation, there is not a great deal of profiteering in the matter of second-hand clothes, but the people are finding that there are many ways of eking out their meagre allowance. At present, of course, the weather is sufficiently warm to enable people to wear a minimum of clothes, and, no doubt, most of them have decided that, rather than invest in the customary light and fashionable summer clothes, they will wear their old clothes and save their coupons to buy an extra pair of "winter-combs." or the fashionable equivalent, should the winter happen to be severe. Hosiery, however, is causing a certain amount of trouble. Under normal conditions, women constantly are buying new pairs of stockings, and men probably buy socks more frequently than any other article of clothing. The number of coupons required to buy hosiery is not very large, but, nevertheless, the constant repetition of an order for stockings over a year would soon swell the number. In an attempt to solve this little difficulty, some people in Britain have been experimenting with tatooed socks and stockings. According to a report in the Sunday Chronicle, Mr. G. Burchell, a London tatooist, seems to be doing a roaring trade in this line. His first client was a man who called one day with the unexpected order for "a pair of ankle-socks," which were to be painted on to his legs. Mr. Burchell scarcely had finished this operation when a young lady arrived on the same errand, but she agreed—acting on the advice of the tatooer—to be satisfied with a line down the back of her legs to represent the seam. Both of these clients seemed to be satisfied with the appearance of their new hosiery; whether or not it will stand the test of time is another matter. Of course, it is not likely that the tatoo marks will wear off for some considerable time, but it is highly probable that the people thus treated will become tired of their "hosiery" long before that happens.

LONDON LETTER

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
MONDAY NIGHT

LORD BEAVERBROOK ceases to be Minister of State, and is to be Minister of Supply. He will work hard to secure the necessary production of many things that are greatly needed at the moment. Lord Beaverbrook is a dynamic personality, and he inspires confidence among the workers. His appointment is a direct answer to the many critics of the present rate of production, and, as he has the gift of gathering around him the best men for the tasks he has in hand, he probably will make good in his new post, as he has done in others. Captain Oliver Lyttleton, the inspirer of the clothing coupon scheme, leaves the Board of Trade to take up special duties abroad. He will be missed at the Board of Trade, for he has done a great amount of excellent work, though not always in the public eye. In 1939 he was appointed Controller of Non-ferrous Metals, and his work quickly ensured Britain a three years' supply, and, everything being purchased within the Empire, saved the country many millions of money. Sir Andrew Duncan returns to the Board of Trade as President, a post he held until October last year. He is a business man pure and simple, and has done excellent work for the country.

Union with U.S.

Members of the House of Commons are forming an all-party committee with the object of giving consideration to a plan for post-war Anglo-American friendship. It is said that quite a number of people take the view that Anglo-American unity is the one thing that can do much to save and remould civilisation in the days to come. The matter has been carefully considered by Sir Rowland Evans, who has had long political experience, and in the course of the next few days he will issue the details of the proposed scheme, with a foreword by Lord Chatfield. Rumour says that among the suggestions will be an ultimate union of Britain and the United States, with interchange of citizenship similar to Mr. Churchill's idea for France before the débâcle.

Mr. Fraser's Visit

Mr. Peter Fraser, the New Zealand Prime Minister, is making a great impression in political circles here. Though somewhat different in style to Mr. Menzies, he is a good speaker, giving an idea of great sincerity and accuracy whenever he makes an important statement. He is a typical New Zealand Scotsman, being earnest and most capable, never failing to recognise the fact that the troops from New Zealand are the apple of his eye and worthy of all that is said of them. It is expected that Mr. Fraser will remain in England for about two months, when his place may be taken by another Dominion Premier. It appears to be the intention of the British Government to have one of these Premiers always within reach of personal consultation.

Treasury Demand

The British Treasury has administered a shock to many of the people who last year responded to the appeal for national saving. In making out returns investors had to include any interest received from National Defence Bonds and kindred investments, but, having done this, they find themselves called upon to state when the investments were made, and, on supplying the information, have been informed that their assessment will be increased by the appropriate amount for the fiscal year ending in April last. If this had been a question of an increase in salary they would not have had to pay the tax until next year, but the Treasury, being legally entitled to make the charge, is calling for the money regardless of the effect it may have on the investors.

Indians Meet

Indian nationals have been meeting in London for a three-days' conference to fix a policy, and have come to a conclusion that a telegram should be sent to Mahatma Gandhi urging him to reconsider and readjust his policy towards the war. The gathering want a new effort to bring about the formation of a National Government with the goodwill of all parties, with the defence of India as the first consideration. It is thought should Congress accede to this desire the release of the political prisoners would follow without any great delay. It is noted that no reference is made to the entrance of Russia into the war, the reason given being described as "tempestuous developments in the military situation, involving a threat to Indian security."

Working Hours

A scheme for the staggering of working hours in the industrial establishments of the London area has been prepared by the Regional Board, and its aim is to avoid excessive peaks of traffic with less delay and greater comfort for travellers of all classes. In one factory area it has been found that the number of workers arriving in one half-hour was 8,815, in the previous half-hour 22, and in the following half-hour 1,200. Some seven hundred factories have already adopted staggering, and the preliminary work for the extension of the practice is now in progress. It is the intention that they will be completed in time to enable the workers to reap the full benefit during the coming winter.

AN IRISHMAN'S DIARY

Irish Culture, Limited

Should the new Irish Writers, Actors, Artists, and Musicians' Association—call it Waama, à la Russe—seek a Government grant for the subsidising in this poor country of payments for literary work, musical performances, paintings, stage productions, and so on (the annual donation to the Abbey Theatre from the National Exchequer being a precedent). Mr. Sean T. O'Kelly will surely accord a sympathetic ear at least to the representations on the subject, for the Minister for Finance is an ex-journalist and ex-editor himself! He is also an ex-employé of the National Library in Kildare street, and it is, therefore, appropriate that Mr. J. J. Bouch, of the National Library staff, should be joint trustee with Maurice Walsh of the new organisation.

One way in which the powers-that-be could encourage this movement, aimed at uniting all Irish authors, actors, artists and "artistes" in their own interests, is by patronage and honorary membership of the Association.

Just take a look at this list of State, Church, and other public personages who have been active in the literary or other cultural spheres:

Patrons ?

Dr. Douglas Hyde:—The President will be interested to hear that the cultural union will cater for translators;

Dr. Paschal Robinson:—The Nuncio Apostolic was formerly an editor, and is still a writer on historical and religious subjects for international magazines;

Cardinal MacRory, who has his name on some books, and who has a niece who has written a play, and then produced and "starred" in it herself here in Dublin;

P. J. Little, T.D., who was in the editorial chair of the "New Ireland Magazine" some decades before he became Minister for Posts and Telegraphs;

Defence Minister O. Traynor, T.D., closely associated with the printing industry; and Sean MacEntee, T.D., who wrote poetry before he started to write figures in the Portfolios of Finance and Industry.

The Minister for Finance and Industry, incidentally, has someone to follow in his literary footsteps—his daughter, Miss Maire MacEntee, is now writing some fine Gaelic poetry whilst studying at University College.

Mrs. de Valera, of course, has written many plays and children's stories in the national language.

Many members of our Diplomatic Corps abroad are also likely to take a helpful interest in the new Irish Writers' Actors, Artists and Musicians' Association. Mr. R. Brennan, the Minister to the U.S.A., is author of comedies and "thrillers." Mr. Michael MacWhite, a forceful writer and speaker, is husband of a Danish painter; and Secretary to his Legation at Rome is Dublin-born D. Devlin, poet-brother of Miss Moya Devlin, the actress.

Luxuries for the Cinema

The latest innovation in luxury cinemas in America is said to be luminous carpets, which glow brightly in the dark. These carpets are treated with fluorescent dyes composed of certain chemicals, such as sulphate of quinine, calcium tungstate, platinum borium sulphide, and others.

When exposed to the ultra-violet rays provided by the use of mercury lamps, the pattern of the carpet shines out, guiding the feet of the cinema patrons as no electric torch could do.

It is an ingenious invention, and the cost is not prohibitive. The carpets cost very little more than the ordinary kind, and the mercury lamps may be had at moderate prices. So Dublin may yet see the magic carpets installed in its cinemas.

Another cinema innovation which introduces odours to the screen has been described as the "smellies." This is the invention of two Swiss engineers, Hans E. Loube and Robert Barth, who have worked out a process by means of which an audience may not see a spring scene on the screen, but may actually smell the flowers.

After the war it is quite possible that we may be able to walk down the luminous carpet of our favourite cinema, and, sitting in the plush seat, sniff the scent of haymaking or the salt sea breezes. A cinema which could bring us the aroma of oranges, the appetising smell of coffee, or the fragrance of a cup of tea would not be short of patrons to-day.

Ballads

Of all the ballads which are sung or have been sung in this ballad-loving country of ours, how many have had their record carefully preserved in print, for the benefit of future historians and students of local history and folklore? Of those actually printed how many have had the tunes accurately transcribed?

Hardly fifty per cent., I should imagine—if anything near that!

Realising this, I welcome the news that a magnificent collection of Northern ballads has been recently presented to the Trustees of the National Library of Ireland by Mr. Sam Henry.

The collection represents the donor's activities in the field of ballad-collecting over a period of thirty years. The words and music originally appeared in the columns of the Northern Constitution, where they appeared regularly from 1923 to 1939.

Mr. Henry is a well-known essayist-historian, archæologist and folk-lorist, and he has many friends in Dublin, where his broadcast talks are always welcome.

"Blitz Beds"

When passing a shop in Grafton street yesterday my eye was "caught" by an array of A.R.P. equipment in the window.

Upon looking more closely I saw a host of every-day articles also on display. To each one was attached a small card, which pointed out the added use in "blitz time." one of these window-cards referred to a rubber air-cushion of the kind which have become extremely popular at seaside resorts. The card read something as follows:—

"BLITZ BEDS"
Indispensable to—
Hikers,
Campers,
Holiday-makers,
Refugees.
ONLY NEEDS TO BE "BLOWN UP."

BELLEVUE SCHOOL, SUTTON

The annual "At Home" and Concert of Bellevue School was held on Saturday last. There was a large attendance of parents and interested friends. The programme began with a nature play, "Jennifer Walks In Spring," by the junior and kindergarten children, which was followed by a play entitled "The King and the Astrologer," acted by the senior scholars.

During the interval tea was served and the principal, Mrs. E. Knowles, addressed parents and pupils. After thanking all those who had helped in various ways, she stated that in September the school would move to more commodious premises in Howth, on the 'bus route, and she looked forward confidently to its expansion.

A very enjoyable programme concluded with a commendable performance by the combined classes of "Hiawatha's Wedding Feast" (Coleridge Taylor).

DUBLIN ROTARY CLUB

"Do try and plan your work so that you can get a reasonable working day," said Mr. J. S. Smurthwaite, who spoke on "Towards Efficiency," at yesterday's weekly luncheon meeting of the Dublin Rotary Club, at the Gresham Hotel. In the course of his plea for more suitable working conditions and for consideration of the health of the worker, he said that it had been proved over and over again that fatigue was bound to tell in the end. Relatively speaking, as much could be produced on a forty-eight-hour week as in a fifty-four-hour week.

RUSSO-GERMAN CAMPAIGN

DNIEPER THE PROBABLE DEFENSIVE FRONT

By Our Military Correspondent.

A WEEK after the opening of the new Russian theatre of war it looks as if things were settling into a fairly clear pattern. Britain is countering with what now seems to be a fairly steady aerial offensive against all the Western German-occupied territories that can be conveniently reached. It seems probable that bombing-'planes are now on hand in such numbers as to permit of quite important losses—as for fighters, there was never any real danger of a shortage of them.

That is probably all Britain can do at the moment in the way of giving relief of Russia. Meantime the Russians have not done as badly as might have been expected The Russian and German communiqués dealing with the first week of hostilities have been so contradictory that it is not possible to reconcile them. It will be necessary to wait a little longer until the location on the map gives us something definite to hold by. Of all the places named up to the present, only Minsk is in actual Russian territory—and Minsk is only 20 miles from the Polish frontier. It is likely that the Dnieper will be the real defensive front of the Russians: there would be little point in risking formidable forces in advance of that, close up to the actual frontier.

RUSSIAN MATERIAL

A word as to the Russian war-material here is not out of place—distinguishing between ordinary and specialised branches. The former—rifles, cannon, machine-guns—may be O.K.-ed at once: it is as good as anyone else possesses. We must qualify this in the case of the remainder—aircraft and tanks. The last time these were in action was in the Spanish civil war—a matter of several years. Both 'planes and tanks were then quite up-to-date; but it is thought they have practically marked time ever since. This would be a weighty disadvantage in aircraft, which has developed enormously in the interim. To take just one example: the first Messerschmitt also fought in Spain, and the Germans have produced certainly three marks of it since and possibly four. Generally, it is thought, the Russian aerial material is numerous, but on the slow side. This would handicap them seriously at present—in long hours of daylight. The position in tanks would not be so unfavourable: tanks do not age at all as quickly as aeroplanes. The main advantages the Germans would possess in this domain would be more recent and extensive experience and, probably, better maintenance and serviceing.

A MYSTERY FORCE

As for the Russian Navy—it is a real mystery force. According to authoritative naval annals, it contains a remarkable number of ships, especially of the smaller classes—i.e., destroyers, submarines, mine-layers, motor torpedo boats, etc. Submarines are said to be towards the 200 mark. It is quite certain that—if the Russians were a seafaring people—there are enough ships to dispute the Baltic and to dominate the Black Sea. It is superfluous to point out what a weighty factor that would constitute in resisting the present German onslaught.

GERMAN HOPES

The German offensive in the extreme North is closely bound up with this matter of the Russian Fleet in the Baltic. If these ships—or any considerable proportion of them—could be seized it would help to offset losses in German warships to date. This is important, in view of the constant British air raiding on all the nearer German yards—up to Kiel, inclusive. Indeed, German shipbuilding must now be very largely dependent on Stettin, Danzig and Elbing, which are all immune for the time being. Another reason for German activity on this flank is that Leningrad is a very important centre of Russian heavy industry. It should be understood that Russia—while greatly expanding her industry and setting up great new plants in remote districts—never dreamt of scrapping the important industrial centres of the Tsarist time.

The border-land between Poland and Russia is divided into two distinct theatres of operations by the great marshy expanse known as Polesia, which extends from west to east between the Vistula tributary, Bug and the Dnieper. This tract is about 300 miles long and 100 miles wide. Lengthwise through the middle of it flows the Pripet, a tributary of the Dnieper. The Pripet is only a moderate obstacle in itself—30 to 100 yards wide—but the flanking marshes are impassable except along the roads.

FEW ROADS

Thus, from Pinsk to Mosyr—a distance of 130 miles—there are only three north-south roads, and those not good. Northward of the marshes—properly so called—to the region of Slonim (75 miles north of Pinsk) stretches a vast, marshy, sparsely-peopled forest. Real north-south lateral communication in Poland stops at the railway Luck-Brest-Litovsk-Bialystok-Grodno. It only begins again in Russia with the great chaussée down the left bank of the Dnieper-Vitebsk-Mohilev-Gomel-Kiev. This is no less than 300 miles further east.

This division into two distinct theatres is well illustrated in the strategical deployment of the Russian forces—as given by a recent American calculation. According to this source, the Russians have available some 165 divisions, distributed in two strong wings and a weak centre, with a reserve held out—no bad distribution, it may be remarked, for countering the standard German enveloping attack.

RUSSIAN STRENGTH

The detail is as follows:—

Northern Flank:—
E. of Finland	23 divisions
S.E. ,,	12 divisions
S. ,,	42 divisions
Total	77 divisions
Centre:—
On Polish front	24 divisions
Southern Flank:—
On Ukraine frontier	48 divisions
In reserve:—
A minimum of	16 divisions

The same source gave the opposing German strength as 130 divisions, plus 20 Rumanian and 10 Finnish. The figures for the Russians differ somewhat from those quoted in these notes last week, though not very greatly. The important point to observe, however, is the division into two strong wings and a light centre, where attack is less probable—or, rather, not physically possible.

GERMANY MISTAKEN

The German interpretation of this disposition—that it betokens an offensive intention—is almost certainly going too far. It could mean that, of course; but it would suit a sound defensive policy equally well. The Russian Army is quite incapable of carrying out anything like a sustained, grand-scale offensive against Germany. The preponderance numerically of the northern wing over the southern—77 divisions as against 48—is, doubtless, explainable by the fact that German communications are much better there. There is, accordingly, a much more favourable opportunity of a surprise attack in great strength. On the side of the Ukraine communications in an East-West sense are by no means so developed—except for the Black Sea, which the Russians control to date.

The Russian Black Sea Fleet have attacked Constanza, it appears, while Russian aircraft have bombed that port and also Ploesti, the oil centre. It has sometimes caused comment that the British never did this, and it is worth while examining what may be possible reasons. One is that they had not in Egypt—and have not yet—any of the really heavy, long-distance bombers, which alone would have made such an attack worth while. Another would be the diplomatic one that there was always neutral territory interposed until German forces invaded Greece—when it was too late, in face of more immediate needs.

FRENCH WILL GO

The Mediterranean theatre has not shown much change. The Allies continue to make progress in Syria, and it now seems reasonably certain that they will soon oust the French from that country—long before any decision can possibly be reached in Russia. This probability may not be unconnected with the strange convoy attack off the south of Italy on Thursday last, when British aircraft attacked three ships, "each of 20,000 tons." One or other—or both—of two reasons may account for such a concentration of large ships, which can only be ocean passenger liners. Either the smaller ships are getting scarce or it was urgent to transport to Africa considerable reinforcements, and that at speed. The fact that, from Admiral Cunningham's point of view, the worst has happened in Greek waters at least enables him to concentrate wholeheartedly against the trans-Mediterranean route of the Axis Powers. His operations here have considerably intensified of late.

DUBLIN THEATRES

THE GAIETY THEATRE

If Mr. Somerset Maugham's reputation rested on this comedy of an afternoon in Golders Green the number of people who were glad to learn of his escape from France last summer would have been much smaller. The comedy is so brittle that it has a tendency to break—and nobody would be greatly worried if it did. Stanley Illsley made a great effort in his production of "The Breadwinner," and in the rôle of the stockbroker in the process of being "hammered" on 'Change, and changing his life, he gave us some really good acting. The difficulty of presenting a play in which the action in the three acts is continuous, and necessitating the repetition of the last few lines of the previous act at the start of the subsequent two, is great, because this sort of thing irritates an audience. Nevertheless, there was nothing to complain about in the production, but the fluffing of lines by some members of the cast did not help matters. Mr. Illsley made the character of Charles Battle something which could hold one's interest, and in the last act, with its succession of duologues, the women members of the cast (Sheila Maguire, as his wife; Mairin Hayes, his daughter; Eileen Ashe, his friend's wife, and Sheila Manahan, his friend's daughter) were at their best. Leo McCabe gave a good impression of Alfred Granger, the too, too hearty friend, who would live in Golders Green for the rest of his days. Brendan Smith and Joseph Reade, the sons of Battle and Granger, respectively, had some dialogue with the two girls, in which the conversation was of the adolescent type, frequently to be met with in suburban comedies. The play has some good laugh lines, but Messrs. Illsley and McCabe have produced much better plays during their current season at the Gaiety; maybe this is just a hot weather slip from grace.

QUEEN'S THEATRE

On both the stage and screen the Queen's this week is as lively as ever. The cinema feature, "Melody Ranch," starring Gene Autry, setting the melodic tempo of the stage attractions, which are enlivened by the Queen's Moonbeams, Billy Jordan, the Yodelling Wanderer; Bob Lloyd's quintet, and Harry Bailey, himself, ably assisted by Rita Barlow.

THEATRE ROYAL

The stage show at the Theatre Royal, Dublin, this week is presented in two special and well contrasted features. In "Argentina," the scene on which the curtain rises, there is a succession of bright and lively dance numbers with attractive dances by the Six Argentinii and Fred Doyle, supported by the Royal Violettes. The dresses and stage setting are in appropriate colours. After an interlude by Gordon Spicer in Songs of the Sea on the theatre organ, the Royal Orchestra, under Jimmy Campbell, present a splendid selection from the musical play "Bitter Sweet," with vocal numbers by May Devitt and Joseph Flood. Both these popular Dublin singers are heard at their best.

The film "The Navy Steps Out" is very aptly described as a "rowdy, romantic riot," featuring George Murphy, Lucille Ball, and Edmond O'Brien.

THIS is a bright and amusing, if rather slight, play, in which Mr. St. John Ervine handles most successfully some very old material and manages to keep the glitter of comedy upon it through every moment of its three acts. It is a feat of craftsmanship rather than a bit of real comic life, yet it brought unfailing laughter from the rise to the fall of the curtain. He falls back on the well-tried subject of the rich man's unusual will. All stage wills have to be unusual and disconcerting to expectant relatives, and the average dramatist can always eke out the material into a pretty tolerable play. But Mr. Ervine's handling of this old theme is so sprightly and skilful as to make one regret, when all is over, that he has not anything new to say on the subject. Perhaps there can never be anything new to say, but what he says is done brightly and with gusto. His Northern wit comes over in many a pungent line, although these are not said with a Northern accent, and there is little else to show that the scene is set in a mansion near Belfast.

Sir Samuel Lepper has just died, and his relatives are assembled after his funeral to hear the reading of the will. The moment is full of expectation, which is soon reduced to comic desolation by the reading, not of the will, but of a letter which was to be opened after his death by his lawyer in the presence of the relatives. This letter does the job really better than any will, however disappointing, could have done. The relatives who lived on the rich man's generosity during his life-time are to get nothing, while the one who expected nothing is to get all. An unexpected relative of the dead man, an unacknowledged daughter, is introduced by the letter, although she has already introduced herself, and all is set fair for the ending, which comes clearly into sight at this point.

This first act is the best of the play, and really the whole of it. The rest is Mr. Ervine's skill in making us believe that his succeeding acts develop anything or are at all different from that quite delightful opening. Perhaps, it is just because we have to like it so well that we are not disappointed in being shown it twice over again. Thin enough though some of it all was, it never seemed to wear thin enough for detection, but kept the true ring of laughter to the end.

The people who lived on Sir Samuel Lepper during his busy and successful life proceed to do the same with the relative who has benefited by the will, and he is brought to a dilemma, from which he is extricated, in the most pleasant way by the unacknowledged daughter, just as we had foreseen. But the deft complications which happen on the way are always amusing, and, although these people have none of the depth of rich comic characters, we never think of questioning their reality, so smoothly and successfully does the play hurry on.

This was the skill of the author, but a very large part of the play's success must be attributed to the skill of the players, who were never seen at easier advantage in an Abbey comedy. This was particularly true of Ria Mooney as Fanny Cairns, Eileen Crowe as Mrs. Corken, F. J. McCormick as Edward Scantlebury, Eithne Dunne as the unacknowledged daughter, and Denis O'Dea, the different kind of relative of the dead man, who, only because of his difference presumably, was rewarded with all the money. Gerard Healy, Brid Ni Loingsigh, May Craig, Michael J. Dolan and Fred. Johnson were equally successful in smaller parts.

The excellent production by Frank Dermody was greatly helped by a setting which mutely suggested a great deal of Sir Samuel Lepper's taste and character, and would do so even if we had not seen a single one of his relatives.

NO RATIONING FOR PHOTOGRAPHERS

Though amateur photographers in Britain are reported to be seriously affected by the dearth of various materials, there does not seem to be very much to worry about as far as the Irish amateur photographer is concerned.

Far from being worried about any possible shortage, which, by the way, does not seem to bother any of the three leading Irish photographic concerns interviewed, the thousands of Irish amateur photographers are practising their hobby as usual.

Photographic firms find that many week-ends this year have yielded more photographic work than the corresponding periods of last year.

WALL STREET DULL AND EASIER

NEW YORK, Monday.

The Stock Market was very dull, and generally tended downward, as the lack of positive Russo-German information deterred buyers. Business developments individually were hopeful, but the all embracing Federal controls and tax uncertainties were a dampning influence.

The share volume for six months was only about 50 per cent. of last year's figure for the corresponding period. To-day's turnover totalled 270,000 shares, and of the 610 stocks traded 143 advanced, 289 declined, and 173 were unchanged.

Rheumatic Acids
First attacked his arms—Then his legs—Next his hips stiffened and fingers became unusable
Read the remarkable history of this case
"Two years ago my father developed rheumatism, first in the arms, then in his legs. His hips stiffened and the pain was so bad he only slept fitfully. Finally he could not lift a finger. Then a friend suggested Fynnon Salt. Without any real faith in it he tried it. By June we noticed a great improvement. He was walking nearly normally. All pains had subsided. Joints were loosened and he gained in weight. By August he was driving again—and taking a long walk each day. Now his health is far above the average—his energy unlimited.—Yours very sincerely, Irene C. C."
FYNNON contains the salts of Lithium, Potassium, Sodium—the natural active salts which are known to dissolve and disperse rheumatic acids. That's why you must get right down to the cause and take Fynnon if you have pain or stiffness.
Fynnon Salt will banish your Rheumatic Acids
Is your complaint amongst these? FIBROSITIS, NEURITIS, LUMBAGO, SYNOVITIS, SCIATICA, GOUT, MUSCULAR RHEUMATISM, JOINT PAINS, GENERAL STIFFNESS.
The sooner you let FYNNON get these rheumatic acids out of your system the sooner you will be feeling young and cheerful again.

AFFAIRS OF CORK BROKER

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

CORK, Monday.

The examination in bankruptcy of Dermot Forde-Nagle, stockbroker, Cork, was continued to-day before the Registrar, Mr. C. T. F. Russell, in the Cork Bankruptcy Court.

During to-day's hearing it was stated that gross liabilities totalled £22,792 and net £20,835.

Questioned about £2,000 War Loan, which he said he had at one time in the bank, the bankrupt explained that this was formerly the property of Mrs. William O'Brien, who gave it to his mother as a present. His mother lodged it as security for the account of J. C. Forde and Co. in the bank. This stock was sold by the bank, and the proceeds went to the credit of the firm's account.

YEARLY COMMISSION

As to his previous statement that his annual turnover would be in the region of half-a-million, the bankrupt did not agree with Mr. Neville's suggestion that he would have approximately £4,000 commission on this sum. On an investment of £1,000 the profit would be only 25s. He did not think they ever made much over £2,000 in commission in a year. The auditor's statement was based on fictitious commission figures, which appeared in the books, in order to convey to the bank that greater profits were being earned than was actually the case.

In reply to another question, the witness denied that he had an account with a Cork bookmaker.

Thomas A. Nagle, the bankrupt's brother, who stated that he was a Bachelor of Commerce, and had a pretty good knowledge of figures, was asked by Mr. Neville: "Do you agree that you were the brains behind all this business?" Witness replied "No."

Mr. Neville—Who do you say was the master brain?—I think the responsibility was shared equally between my brother and myself.

I think you will agree that your brother did not have any knowledge of accountancy?—I suppose he had not the knowledge I had anyway.

PAYMENTS TO BANK

In reply to Mr. McClement, who appeared for the bankrupt, the witness gave details of dealings with the bank and with clients from May, 1935, up to January last, when protection was taken. During that time, he said, they paid to the bank, by way of interest on overdraft on the firm's account and on other accounts for which the bank held them liable and in reduction of the overdraft, a sum of £3,500. Witness mentioned in addition losses on shares which had been taken up by the office and payments on insurance premiums on the life of D. Forde-Nagle and which policies were held by the bank. For the period May, 1935, to January, 1941, the total commission earned by the office was £11,448 5/7.

Registrar—And during that period you say he spent approximately £25,000.

Mr. McClement—Exactly, sir.

Registrar—Is any money at all kept by you or your brother which could be made available for the creditors?

Witness—No.

Mr. McClement—On that point, have you or your brother given any money to any person to keep for you?—No.

Registrar—Does anybody hold any property in trust for either you or your brother?—No.

Mr. Neville said he did not accept the figures given by the witness for a moment, and asked permission to recall the witness at a later stage.

The further hearing was adjourned to to-day.

REDUCED TRAIN SERVICES

G.S.R. AND "GUARANTEED WEEK"

While the Great Southern Railways is considering the reduction of its services, the Great Northern Railway has no immediate plans for any such curtailment.

An official of the Great Southern Railways, in a statement to the Irish Times yesterday, stated that, "owing to the present emergency and the supply of coal, the Railway Company has under consideration the reduction of the train services, but no decision has been reached. An announcement will be made in due course."

Mr. C. D. Watters, Irish Secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, said that his union had received a letter from the G.S.R. asking that a meeting of the representatives of the unions should be held during the early part of next week in order to outline the procedure to be adopted when the train services are reduced. "The question of the temporary suspension of the guaranteed week must be considered one of immediate importance," the letter stated, according to Mr. Watters.

Should the G.S.R. curtail their services to any considerable degree, the following employés would be affected:—273 stationmasters, 139 supervisors, 800 clerks, 1,900 traffic department workers, 900 goods department employés, 2,200 from the permanent way staff, 1,400 locomotive men, and 500 of the wagon department. These would be mainly concerned, while in the railway shops about 2,000 more workers would eventually be concerned. A total of 12,000 men are employed in the G.S.R. on the railways alone.

CURFEW TRAINS

One railway official suggested a curfew on train services, all trains to stop running after a certain hour each night.

Asked if the "rotation" plan, whereby work is "rationed" out among the employés on a rotary basis, would work in the G.S.R., he stated that it would not be practicable in the case of railway workers operating over considerable distances from their homes.

THE GREAT NORTHERN

The Great Northern Railway, which has 40 per cent. of its activity in Southern Ireland and 60 per cent. in the North, and which employs over 5,000 workers, sees no immediate necessity for further curtailment, working along on what coal they are getting at the moment. While the official stated in this regard that they were "steering pretty close to the wind," nevertheless, he explained, they were "running nothing like the usual services, and, in consequence of this, we have been able to run our regular services at the expense of those luxury services." These latter services, he added, included "mystery tours" and excursion trains on Sundays.

There have been no reductions on the permanent staff of the Great Northern Railway, the official stated, but on the temporary side, such as employés on the 'buses, there have been some reductions. However, those men have had their hours of work "staggered" or "rotated," so that they have been kept going.

FEWER FAILURES IN IRELAND

NO SUDDEN JUMP IN STATISTICS

We publish below a comparative statistical table of particulars published in "Kemp's Irish Mercantile Gazette" week by week. Figures for the three years are given, and a brief perusal of these figures show that, in spite of present economic conditions, figures remain normal, and there is no sudden jump in the statistics.

In Eire the number of judgments are less than the preceding years, and bankruptcies are slightly less than last year. Deeds of arrangement and private arrangements are normal, and the registration of new companies, while showing a slight decrease, are well up to standard.

In Northern Ireland the number of judgments registered show a remarkable decrease. Bankruptcies, deeds of arrangements and private arrangements, also prove a decline, and the number of new companies registered are greater than that of the previous year.

The following are the totals for the first six months in each of the past three years:—

EIRE.	1939.	1940.	1941.

Bicycle Stealing.—That there was an epidemic of bicycle stealing around Sligo, and that some people were indulging in it as a pastime, was stated at Sligo when James Conway, Kilmacowen, was given a suspended sentence and ordered to pay £7 16/- compensation for the larceny of a bicycle from outside the Holy Cross Church. A sentence of three months was imposed at Waterford on Samuel R. Evans, Killaspic, Co. Kilkenny, for bicycle stealing.

HIGHER DUBLIN PORT DUES

SHIPS THAT STAY MORE THAN SIX WEEKS

From to-day the weekly tonnage rate on ships lying in the Port of Dublin for a longer consecutive period than six weeks will be increased from 1d. to 1½d. per ton. The Dublin Port and Docks Board has statutory powers to increase its harbour dues, and this new order is put into force as one method of increasing revenue to meet present economic conditions. The increase, in the case of a vessel of 3,000 tons register lying in the port for longer than six weeks, will be from £4 3s. 4d. to £6 5s. per week.

STATISTICS OF THE REGISTRAR-GENERAL

According to the Registrar-General's return of vital statistics, the number of births registered in Eire during the first quarter of 1941 was 13,678. There were 3,554 marriages, being a slight increase over last year's figure. The number of deaths was 14,648, being 1.5 higher than in the corresponding quarter of 1940. Infant mortality was 83 per 1,000 births registered. Deaths from influenza were 868, tuberculosis 1,028. Cancer accounted for 962 deaths.

FUNERAL

MR. MICHAEL J. NUGENT

There was a large attendance of his colleagues and of representatives of other publications at the funeral yesterday of Mr. Michael J. Nugent, 28 North Summer street, Dublin, late Chief Sub-Editor of the Sunday Independent, which took place to Glasnevin from the Pro-Cathedral, after the celebration of Mass by the Rev. E. Gallen, C.C.

The chief mourners were:—Mrs. S. Nugent (mother); Mrs. K. Brander (sister); Mr. John and Mr. Hugh Nugent (brothers).

DECLINE IN DEMAND FOR TURF

The effect of the new Government Order under the Emergency Powers Act, controlling the sale and price of turf in Dublin, was to reduce its cost to the consumer by from 8s. 6d. to 20s. per ton. The sales manager of a well-known coal importing firm said that the demand for turf had fallen off considerably during the past few months. This could not be entirely explained by the advent of summer. The Dublin public preferred coal to turf as a domestic fuel. This, he added, was a prejudice the people would be called upon increasingly to conquer in the immediate future.

Asked to give comparative figures showing the falling-off of coal imports into this country, he said that this was not possible, but anyone who cared to visit the port of Dublin would get a clear view of the situation for himself by observing the empty coal berths and storage yards.
